

DETECTIVES SEEK
IN ST. LOUIS
CONVICT'S BRIDE

J. B. Mastyn Whom Miss
Hilker Married and Convict Sefton Are One.

HER BROTHER-IN-LAW SAYS SO

GROOM BROKE OUT OF PENITEN-TIARY FOR LOVE OF HER.

Prison Officials Think That Fugitive
and His Wife Are in Hiding—Bride's Parents Live at 4240 Blair Avenue.

It was announced by the St. Louis police department Thursday that W. S. Sefton,
the escaped convict from the Chester (Ill.)
penitentiary, and John B. Mastyn, who was married in St. Louis to Loretta Tighe of 4240
Blair avenue, are one and the same man.

William Beschen of O'Fallon, Mo., brother-in-law of Miss Hilker, says there is no doubt in his mind that Sefton and Mastyn
are identical.

Neither the deputy wardens from Chester
nor the St. Louis detectives have yet located the romantic ex-convict.

The detectives express the opinion that Sefton or Mastyn has quit St. Louis and is in hiding in some small town in the interior of Missouri. They also express the opinion that his bride is with him.

Neighbors of the Hilker family say they doubt the correctness of the detectives' conclusion with regard to the whereabouts of the bride.

Some of them venture the opinion that she visited her mother's house, 4240 Blair avenue, either Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Chester Officials
Offer Reward of $50.

There is a reward of $50 offered by the Chester officials for Sefton's capture. Local detectives who are trying to earn this reward say that Mrs. Hilker, mother of the bride, will tell them absolutely nothing
leading to the location of her new and dangerous son-in-law.

To the Post-Dispatch Thursday morning
Mrs. Hilker repeated her declaration of Wednesday that she did not believe her daughter was married. She said the young woman still denied it. She also declared she does not know where her daughter is at present, further than that she is at work out in the West End.

Lizzie Hilker has known the man she married for several years. It is related that she met him about six years ago while she was employed as a waitress in a restaurant.

He came into the restaurant to order
a meal, and was so impressed with her graciousness that he called thereafter regularly at dining hours.

He secured permission to call and escort
her to various places. About four years ago he went with her one Sunday to O'Fallon, Mo., to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Beschen.

Mr. Beschen is the manager of a large and important fishing club on the Culver river,
about four miles from O'Fallon.

His Right Name
Is Mastyn.

"That's the only time I ever saw Sefton,"
said Mr. Beschen to the Post-Dispatch.
"His first name, I remember, was Wallace.
He was then a tall, slender, blonde-haired fellow with a blonde mustache."

"He was nice-looking and a very good talker. I thought he was a commercial traveler."

"I heard afterward that his right name
was Mastyn (this name was spelled Mas-teen). I don't remember exactly where I heard it, I think that Lizzie told me one day later when she came to visit us."

"Still later we heard he was arrested and was in the penitentiary. I didn't hear what he did, except that he had told in some way that wasn't right."

"After he was in jail I know that he wrote to Lizzie. I think he was mighty fond of her. But I never thought she was of him because I know she didn't answer
the letters she got while she was at our house."

Mr. Beschen declared that he was astonished when he read of the marriage of Lizzie Hilker to John B. Mastyn in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch.

"If Lizzie married anybody named Mas-
tyn," he said, "it was that fellow sefton
sure."

Bride Kept Secret Well.

If the circumstances are as Mr. Beschen relates them, the escaped convict's bride
succeeded in keeping her secret very well.

Only a few days after her marriage—
about July 7—she went to O'Fallon from St. Louis to become her sister's guest at the fishing club. She remained there nearly a month—until Saturday, Aug. 2.

"During the entire time, both her sister
and brother-in-law declare, she made no
mention of matrimony or of Mastyn."

The detectives who have been working on the case say that they find Mr. Beschen's statement rather difficult to believe.

"It is our opinion that Sefton and the girl he married have been in almost constant communication since the wedding,"
said one of the officers.

"If she was up in O'Fallon all that time
she certainly met Sefton around there. They might have met somewhere in the neighborhood and hid the fact from her relatives, though."

"When she came back to St. Louis that Saturday I think she met him and spent several days with him. She is reported not to have reached home until the following Thursday."

"I think she is either with him now or preparing to join him and she and her relatives are keeping her movements a secret
for that reason."

There might have been some hard contact with the operations that landed Sefton
in the penitentiary, as Mr. Beschen said, but it appears that hides were the main feature in these operations.

JAMES MCCONKEY.
Private secretary to the mayor.

BOLD "DIP" GOT MCCONKEY'S SUPER

Mayor's Secretary Was
"Tossed" on a Car.

THAT IS, HE LOST HIS WATCH

There is one "instrument" in this great city
who had better fight shy of the mayor's office, for should he ever appeal to that honorable office for release from the
"booby hatch" he will get the "rollers
down below."

This is the "dip" who "lifted" the "super" from the "jerry" of James McConkey, private secretary of the mayor, by the light of "Oliver" Wednesday night.

It was not a "bum super," either, but cost Mr. McConkey many a good "case"
in a real jewelry store.

Mr. McConkey did not see the "gun"
get away with the "swag," but when he went to look for the "super" it was gone
and the "slag" was broken, and Mr. Mc-Conkey had not been "k.p." either. Anyhow, the "dip" was gone. The mayor's secretary had been "tossed."

Thursday morning he went to the "main elbow" and made a "spiel." After that he refused to say anything to the newspapers about his loss.

In other words, James G. McConkey, author of the outer office of his honor the mayor, had a valuable gold watch stolen
from him some time Wednesday night,
whether on a street car or at the park
was not certain.

But the matter before Chief of Detectives Desmond, Mr. McConkey will not discuss the loss of his watch further than to say
it was a very valuable timepiece and had
cost him a lot of money—how much more
costly for him to say.

Mr. McConkey was not aware of the loss of his watch further than to say that
it was a very valuable timepiece and had
cost him a lot of money—how much more
costly for him to say.

"If you want to know anything about
this matter," said Chief Desmond, "ask
Mr. McConkey, when asked about his loss.
"It's gone and that's all I know about it."
It is a wise thief he will send it back to me. It was a very valuable watch, the best I could buy in the city.
I have hopes that Chief Desmond's men
will find it for me."

In the language of the Four Courts it is a "clinch" that if the thief who stole Mc-Conkey's watch should ever be apprehended
for leniency in the mayor's office he will get short shrift from his honor's secretary.

CLAUDE HUCKLEBERRY SUED

Wife of Man Whom Citizens Whipped
for Abusing Her Wants a Divorce.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Aug. 14.—Mrs.
Cora Huckleberry of Holden has filed suit
here for divorce against her husband, Claude Huckleberry, formerly a photographer of Odessa, making charges of abuse and indignities.

Huckleberry was horsewhipped by the citizens of Odessa last winter for abusing
his wife and forced to leave that place.

Mrs. Huckleberry asks that her maiden name, Cora White, be restored to her.

CLOUDS KEEP ON LOWERING

Threats of Rain Will Keep Back Sunshine at Intervals All Day
Friday.

"The rain gave us a close call last night,"
said Dr. Hyatt between whistles as he made out Thursday's weather report. "It just missed us, that's all. Today it will be partly cloudy and threatening. Likewise on Friday."

It is raining, but not heavily, in Kentucky and Kansas City, the Atlantic states,
the central West, the Northwest and the Rocky mountains.

There is high barometer in the upper Mississippi valley and the lake region. The indicator registers low in both the Southwest and a Northwest.

There were warm
times in the weather
office Wednesday afternoon. Nothing saved the day but the successful baseball scores that put St. Louis first in the pennant race. The temperature went all the way to 85. The humidity was also high. The indications are that Thursday afternoon will not be so warm.

SUCH A ROW!
ALL OVER A BABY

Infant May Be a Witness
in Court.

STARTED NEIGHBORHOOD FEUD

WOMAN OBJECTED TO IT BEING WHEELED PAST HER HOUSE.

Mother Ignored Protests and Dispute
Followed Dispute in the Quiet
Residence District of California and St. Vincent Avenues.

Baby Snyder, who seldom goes abroad
except in a pram, was wheeled by its mother or aunt, will probably be a witness
in court before long, that is, if the officers succeed in serving a warrant that has been issued for the arrest of Mrs. Barbara Clifford of the erstwhile peaceful neighborhood
of California and St. Vincent avenues.

As a matter of fact Baby Snyder is the unconscious cause of a neighborhood feud
that has reached an acute stage.

The baby, it is to be presumed, is guiltless
of any attempt to foment trouble, but it is the cause of a merry war that drove Mrs.
Sarah Snyder of 2733 St. Vincent avenue to the warrant office, and Mrs. Clifford out of town to avoid service of a warrant charging assault and battery.

It began, that is the war, about three months ago, when Mrs. Snyder moved into the neighborhood. Mrs. Clifford lives at California and St. Vincent avenues.
Mrs. Snyder's two doors below. Mrs. Synder was in the habit of wheeling her baby
in its buggy up and down the sidewalk and around the corner close to Mrs. Clifford's door.

It all began with a little irritation caused by the monotonous rolling of the wheels on the granite sidewalk. Mrs. Clifford politely protested. Mrs. Snyder insisted upon her right to wheel her baby whereever
she listed. The baby laughed and growled, and tettered up and down in its buggy to show that it was indifferent to the protests of any one who interfered with its outing.

Quarrel Became
a Family Matter.

From polite objections the differences
grew to words that became more acid with every encounter. Then it became a family
matter, and Miss Mary Hall, Mrs. Snyder's sister, was drawn into it, and one day a personal encounter ensued during which Mrs. Hall avers, Mrs. Clifford smote her with a course iron hoe.

But the baby did not mind. It kept on its diurnal journey along the sidewalk and around the corner.

A day or two ago, while Mrs. Snyder was pramming the baby in the buggy, her head high in the air as she passed Mrs.
Clifford's door, a little tilt occurred. It grew to such proportions, Mrs. Snyder attests, that Mrs. Clifford slapped her in the face. The result was a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Clifford.

Thursday morning Mrs. Snyder confirmed these charges to the Post-Dispatch, and said: "I do not care to say anything further about the affair. Mrs. Clifford is gone.
As soon as she learned that a warrant had been sworn out against her, she packed her trunk and left. I do not know where she has gone, but she caused to be circulated
the report that she was going to Denver."

Says She Threw
Water on Her.

"I am glad she has left, for now we will have some peace. She is a dangerous man. But before she went, she could not resist the temptation to vent her petty spite on my family. As my sister, Miss Hall, passed the side of her house at 6 o'clock this morning on her way to the store, Mrs. Clifford opened the back window and threw a lot of water on her.
Shortly afterward a wagon came and took her trunk away, then she locked the house
and taking her little daughter with her, left the neighborhood. I don't know where she is. For all I know, she may be in the city."

The neighbors are very chary of discussing the Snyder-Clifford imbroglio. Some of them are free to confess that they have heard of the trouble, but profess to know nothing of the details. The house of Mrs.
Mary Reed, 2737 St. Vincent avenue, a witness for Mrs. Snyder, was unoccupied
Thursday morning.

While playing in the yard at the residence of Charles Scheffelin, 636 South Broadway, Maude Hill, the 9-year-old daughter of Charles E. Hill of 464 Pennylvania avenue was savagely attacked by a huge dog and received injuries that are considered serious by the attending physician.

Wednesday afternoon Maude and her mother went to make a visit at the Scheffelin
home and while the older members of the family were conversing, Maude wandered out into the back yard where the watching was tied to the kennel.

The little girl played but a few moments
when she approached the dog and extended her dimpled hand to caress the animal's shiny coat. Maude had never seen the dog
before, and had no warning of its ferocious nature.

Hardly had the child's hand touched the dog's head, when, with a fierce growl, the brute sprang upon her, and, burying its sharp fangs in the tender flesh of the girl's shoulder, bore her to the ground.

With a scream of terror and agony the little girl jerked herself from the dog's grasp and started to run. She had taken only a few steps when the dog was again
upon her and the cruel teeth were sunk
into the girl's left hip, tearing a gaping wound.

The child's cries brought other persons out of the house and they ran to aid the struggling girl. Before the vicious animal had literally chewed large holes in the girl's left leg near the ankle.

Policeman Hinde of the Carondelet station was attracted by the cries of the child
and the shouts of those who were endeavoring to drive off the dog.

FENDER DID NOT SAVE HIM

Herman Brockschmidt Was Fatally
Crushed Under Wheels of Suburban Car.

Herman Brockschmidt, a contractor, was crushed under the wheels of a St. Louis & Suburban car Wednesday night at Manchester and Mitchell avenues, and died
two hours later at Evangelical Deaconess Hospital.

Brockschmidt was examining some grading work which he had in charge, connected with the building of a rail road spur to the World's Fair grounds. He was in front of a car, about the distance was too short for the motorman, George Stout, to stop.

The fender did not keep him from going
under the wheels, and his legs and arms
were crushed and his skull fractured.
He died while preparations for amputation
were being made.

Brockschmidt was 55 years old, and lived with his family at 446 Dale avenue. He was a German-born brick yard, and did a large contracting business.

HOPES TO FIND PEARY SOON

Is Having Good Voyage.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—A letter received
today by the Peary Arctic Club from Capt.
Samuel W. Bartlett of the club's steamer
Windward, dated Domino Run, Labrador,
July 28, four days after leaving Sydney,
says:

"Everything works smoothly; am in hop
of reaching Etah Aug. 5 and then we shall have no difficulty in crossing Smith sound and finding Peary. Hope to see you in New York Sept. 26, with the best of news."

The four days' run of the Windward
from Sydney to Domino Run indicates satisfactory work of her new engines and that she has the increased speed expected.

GIRL RISKED
IN TREACHEROUS POND
LIFE FOR FRIEND

Catherine Quigley, Age 13
Saved Loretta Tighe From Drowning.

IS A POLICEMAN'S DAUGHTER

CHILDREN WERE ATTENDING
PICNIC OF ST. TERESA'S CHURCH.

Loretta Walked Out Into Pond and Suddenly Stepped Into Deep Hole
—Companion Heard Her Cry
and Rushed to Rescue.

(Photographed by the Post-Dispatch.)
Catherine Quigley, 13 years old, the daughter of Policeman James P. Quigley, 3715
Lincoln avenue, dartsed last Wednesday morning to save her sodally comrade, Loretta Tighe of 2733 Bacon street, from drowning in the lake at Lucas Grove, St.
Louis County.

Catherine waded 30 yards out in the treacherous water to pull her girl friend
from the deep pool, in which she was ingulfed. Loretta had sunk twice before her comrade could respond to her cries for aid.

Half a hundred members of the Girl's Sodality of St. Teresa's church, who were picnicking in the grove applauded the deed
of daring Catherine.

Loretta Tighe is 12 years old and, like Catherine Quigley, is a member of the Girl's Sodality of St. Teresa's church.

The proposed picnic of the Girl's Sodality
had been the topic in St. Teresa's parish.
It was strictly a feminine affair. Boys were to be tabooed on this outing for the girl, had planned for one glorious day of fun, all to themselves, in the shady country woods.

So they set forth Wednesday, under the case of good Father Connelly.

Baskets Heavy
and Hearts Light.

The baskets were heavy and the heart's
light in this merry, laughing picnic crowd.
The girls in the sodality party were about the same age, say 13 years.

The anticipations as they set forth, the jolly trolley ride to the grove, the games
the barefooted romps in the cool green grass and the joy of wading in the shallow end of the lake may not be detailed here. The memory of these pleasures belong to the girls of St. Teresa.

Catherine and Loretta were among the waders. While Catherine sat on a log near the bank, Loretta ventured toward the middle of the water.

She did not reckon of the danger she was nearing, the peril which would threaten her life and make a heroine. The heroine of St. Teresa's Catherine.

There was no warning. The sky was blue, the waters smiling, many other girls
were wading and off in the cool Father
Connelly and his flock idled contentedly.

A misstep—a scream—the tragedy impend. Catherine heard her comrade's
terry far out in the lake, and the water
closed over Loretta's struggling form.

"I ran right out in the lake," says Catherine.

SECRETARY DOPP'S NARROW ESCAPE. TOOK PRISONERS

Had Backache and Sleeplessness Caused by Catarrh of Kidneys—Pe-ru-na Cured.

Many Persons Have Catarrh of the Kidneys and Don't Know It.

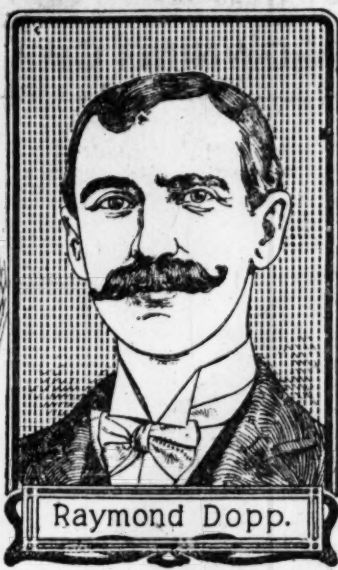

Raymond Dopp, Financial Secretary of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association No. 42, writes from 275 Antoine street, Detroit, Mich.:

"If you had seen me three years ago and then saw me today you would not wonder that I praise Peruna. At that time I was pale and emaciated from what the doctors called kidney and bladder trouble. My back ached. I could not properly digest my food, my nights were made hideous with bad dreams, but Peruna changed all this. Less than a dozen bottles made a new and well man of me, and a hundred times have I blessed you for having placed before humanity such a blessing to the sick as Peruna."—Raymond Dopp.

Mrs. Frances Matton, Treasurer of the Minneapolis Independent Order of Good Templars, writes from 12 Sixth street, Minneapolis, Minn., as follows:

"Last winter I had considerable trouble with my kidneys, brought on after a hard cold which I had neglected. One of my lodge friends who called when I was ill told me of a wonderful medicine called Peruna. I had no faith in it, but my husband purchased me a bottle, and asked me to try it. It brought the most satisfactory results. I used three bottles before I was completely cured, but I have had good cause to be grateful, for not only did my kidney trouble disappear, but my general health improved and I have been in good health ever since. I would not be without it for ten times its cost."—Frances Matton.

This experience has been repeated many times. We hear of such cases nearly every day.

Mrs. Matton had catarrh of the kidneys. As soon as she took the right remedy she made a quick recovery.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna is a specific for catarrhal derangements. Address The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, for free book on catarrh written by Dr. S. B. Hartman. If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

TO SECURE BAIL

Deputy Sheriff Thompson Suspended for 15 Days.

WENT TO CRONIN'S SALOON

DESMOND HAD GIVEN ORDERS TO HOLD THE MEN.

Removal Said to Have Been at Judge Clark's Order, but Judge Clark Denies This—Deputy Claims Action Was Regular.

For irregularly removing Tim Kelleher and "Rab" Downey, two alleged pickpockets, from the holdover at the Four Courts by Charles Thompson, a deputy sheriff, and taking them to Jim Cronin's saloon at Twelfth and Walnut streets while Jim Cronin and Bobby Carroll drove around town and procured bonds for them, Sheriff Dickmann reprimanded his deputies and issued stringent orders for the future. In addition to this he suspended Thompson for 15 days, and has begun an investigation which may result in the permanent retirement of the deputy sheriff.

Tim Kelleher, "Rab" Downey and Harry Williams are all charged in a warrant with attempted larceny from a person in the night time.

It is alleged that they attempted to steal a diamond pin from a man at West End Heights last Sunday night. Williams admitted that he was a pickpocket who robbed women. His picture is to be found in the rogues' gallery, having been taken at both Chicago and Cleveland. Downey and Kelleher are noted local pickpockets, having been arrested many times, and their pictures and Bertillon measurements are in Desmond's gallery.

Late Wednesday afternoon Charles Thompson, a deputy sheriff, entered the holdover and took the three prisoners out and Chief of Detectives Desmond saw the quartet walking over on Twelfth street. He divined at once that they were on the way to Jim Cronin's saloon.

Desmond sent two of his detectives across to Cronin's saloon with instructions to arrest the three men and to return them to the holdover, no matter who protested against it. Thompson told the detectives that Judge Clark had asked that they be brought to Cronin's saloon, where he wanted to release them on bonds. This explanation was not availing, and the trio were returned to the holdover.

Chief Desmond made request on the sheriff's office to hold the prisoners, as there were other persons who he believed had been robbed by them, and he wanted identification made.

Later in the evening Thompson again entered the holdover and again took two of the prisoners out. This time he took Downey and Kelleher. They were taken to Cronin's saloon. This was the last that was seen of them at the Four Courts. Thursday morning when it was learned that the prisoners were out on bond a hubbub was raised at the Four Courts.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Bilhartz said that Thompson had taken the prisoners out at the request of Judge Clark, and that Judge Clark had said he was responsible for the act, and that he would answer all questions.

Judge Clark was seen by the Post-Dispatch before he ascended the bench of the Court of Criminal Correction. He was asked about the bond in question.

"This bond was taken at the saloon at Taylor and Delmar avenues' about 8 o'clock last night," said the judge. "I never saw Thompson, nor did I request him to bring the prisoners to me. I never saw the prisoners. Neither did I see Thompson."

Were Taken Back to the Holdover.

Desmond sent two of his detectives across to Cronin's saloon with instructions to arrest the three men and to return them to the holdover, no matter who protested against it. Thompson told the detectives that Judge Clark had asked that they be brought to Cronin's saloon, where he wanted to release them on bonds. This explanation was not availing, and the trio were returned to the holdover.

Chief Desmond made request on the sheriff's office to hold the prisoners, as there were other persons who he believed had been robbed by them, and he wanted identification made.

Later in the evening Thompson again entered the holdover and again took two of the prisoners out. This time he took Downey and Kelleher. They were taken to Cronin's saloon. This was the last that was seen of them at the Four Courts. Thursday morning when it was learned that the prisoners were out on bond a hubbub was raised at the Four Courts.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Bilhartz said that Thompson had taken the prisoners out at the request of Judge Clark, and that Judge Clark had said he was responsible for the act, and that he would answer all questions.

Judge Clark was seen by the Post-Dispatch before he ascended the bench of the Court of Criminal Correction. He was asked about the bond in question.

Cronin Put $800 In Each Case.

"Jim Cronin called me up by telephone and wanted me to meet him some place and receive the bond. I told him I could not come down to his place, and that if he wanted to see me, he could come to Taylor and Delmar avenues. He came in company with Bobby Carroll and I accepted bonds in each case for $800."

"I did not accept the bonds in Cronin's saloon this time. But it would have been all right for me to do so."

"I did not know that the police had requested that the prisoners be held until they completed their identification. There is no law that I ever saw that requires a man to be held for the convenience of the police. The whole transaction was regular."

Sheriff Dickmann was exceedingly wrathful when he reached his office and learned what had transpired.

"Thompson was on his furlough and was not even acting as a deputy sheriff," said Sheriff Dickmann. "He was discharged last night. I will discipline him for this and I will make it hot for the next deputy that does anything like this."

"This taking of thieves out of the Four Courts and looking for bondsmen is all wrong. The Four Courts is the place to take bonds, and I will issue an order right now that no prisoner, under any consideration, be taken out to get bondsmen. I will discharge the first deputy that ever does such a thing."

Judge Often Asks for Prisoners.

Chief Deputy Bilhartz said that it had always been the custom, and that frequently the judge asked for the prisoners to be brought.

"I don't care what the judge says," retorted Dickmann. "It is all wrong, taking these thieves out who rob you and me, your wife and mine, and taking them to saloons to go on bonds. I will not have it. The Four Courts is the place they must come to release prisoners."

"You will be called into court if you do this," said Bilhartz.

"I don't care if I am," said the sheriff. "This order goes, and any one who does not obey it will be discharged instantly."

Then Sheriff Dickmann called Deputy Thompson and told him to take the prisoners. Charles Thompson, the deputy in question, is one of the proprietors of a saloon at Eleventh and Chestnut streets. Chief of Detectives Desmond says the saloon is the headquarters for a gang of confidence men.

Thompson was recommended for the position of deputy sheriff by Jim Cronin and other saloonkeepers in the vicinity.

Mr. Dickmann said he would investigate the charges of Chief Desmond, and if they were true Thompson would be dismissed.

THIS BRIDE ELOPED IN AUTOMOBILE

Robert C. Carr and his bride, who was Mrs. Emily Otterson until her midnight marriage at Alton Tuesday, are at the Southern Hotel, where the bride has made her home for a year past.

Mr. Carr, who is superintendent of the Mississippi Valley Automobile Co., and Mrs. Otterson were married by Magistrate B. C. Few, in Alton, Tuesday night, after an automobile trip to the Illinois city.

"The couple had planned to keep their marriage a secret until the return of Mr. Carr's mother, Mrs. C. Bent Carr, from the East, but this effort was not successful."

Mrs. Otterson was, before her first marriage, Miss Emily Otterson of Springfield. Her father, Mr. J. H. Otterson, died after her divorce from B. P. Bogy, whom she married two years ago.

HE SUFFERS SECOND BOND FORFEITURE OF $1000.

Chris Schawacker, the Four Courts professional bondsman, suffered another $1000 bond forfeiture Thursday.

On Wednesday Schawacker had to disgorge $1000, together with $18 costs, for the forfeiture of a bond by Albert Caplan, Circuit Attorney Folk had taken all proceedings against Schawacker, and had ordered execution to be issued. The sheriff was given the execution with instructions to levy on his property or collect the full amount of the bond. The trustee bondsman threatened to shoot any deputy who attempted to levy on his property.

Thursday morning Circuit Attorney Folk took another forfeiture against Schawacker. He was on the bond of George Reed, charged in the Court of Criminal Correction with immorality. Reed forfeited his bond of $1000, together with $18 costs, for the forfeiture of a bond by Albert Caplan, Circuit Attorney Folk had taken all proceedings against Schawacker, and had ordered execution to be issued. The sheriff was given the execution with instructions to levy on his property or collect the full amount of the bond. The trustee bondsman threatened to shoot any deputy who attempted to levy on his property.

Schawacker was again angry when he heard of this, and told Sheriff Dickmann that he could not see why he should pay bonds. He threatened dire things. Mr. Folk has been making it warm for the professional bondsmen, has collected a large number of forfeitures, has sent one man to the penitentiary for five years for falsifying as to his qualifications, and three others are under indictment. Bondsmen are beginning to recognize that when they sign a bond they must produce the forfeit in court, or be indicted for perjury for falsifying as to their qualifications.

WOMAN OF 50 HANGS HERSELF

Mrs. Mary Goettler Preferred Death to Life of Ill Health.

NEIGHBORS FOUND HER

Despondent because of ill health, Mary Goettler, aged 50 years, committed suicide Thursday morning by hanging herself to a rafter in the cellar of the house at Ninth and Rutgers streets, where she lived with the family of Mrs. Eva Schmidt.

For several days Mrs. Goettler has been acting strangely.

Wednesday night she complained of feeling ill. About 10 o'clock Thursday morning, she was seen to go into the cellar.

In her hand she carried a rope. At 12:30, neighbors found her dead.

With one end of the rope she formed a noose, while the other was suspended from the cellar joist.

There was the found hanging by Louis Hempel of 1300 South Ninth street.

She had apparently been dead sometime when the body was discovered.

The coroner was notified.

SLAP DISPELLED LOVE'S DREAM

HATTIE QUITTENDEN WAS RUDELY SURPRISED.

When Miss Hattie Quittenden fell in love with Walter Thurman of 1329 North Broadway she never entertained the thought that he might some day slap her face. But he did it, and the blows not only pained her cheek, but inflamed her pride into fierce anger, and she had him arrested.

While at his home she wrote a letter to an acquaintance, in which she made an appointment to meet him, and just as she had placed the missive in an envelope, Walter entered. She claims she endeavored to hide the note, but he saw it and despite her vigorous protests, took it from her and read it.

She alleges that he became very angry, whether from jealousy she does not know, and failed to her as she had never heard him talk before and in a way which she promptly resented. She says that Thurman then slapped her with such force as to cause her cheek to swell and that he kicked her.

In police court Thursday Thurman admitted that he had pushed Miss Quittenden when she spoke violently to him, and Judge Tracy fined him $10.

The plaintiff said, after the trial, that she had made an appointment with a friend for the sole purpose of securing a place of former employment. She is now living at 1305 Mississippi avenue, East St. Louis.

NO WONDER HE PERSPIRES!

With red hot drinks and hot red meats, he makes his blood caloric. And then calls down the Weather Man in language metaphoric. He is hotter 'neath the collar than the man who's skinned at poker. Nor knows he's acting out the part of "Each man his own stoker."

By courtesy of the New York World this illustration is reproduced. It caused comment, followed by thought. It's a sure matter of fact and certain proposition that one can keep cool and comfortable in the hottest weather if common sense is used on the food and drink questions. Leave off liquors, meat, coffee and tea. Breakfast or fruit, a dish of Grape-Nuts breakfast food and cream, and perhaps one or two soft eggs.

Let it go at that, unless you want a slice of toast; and at this meal during the day.

Put out the hot drinks on hot days. Put a little water not too cold, or some cold Postum Food Coffee with a squeeze of lemon in it.

Food experts and chemists know why Grape-Nuts food does not heat the blood, but on the contrary, furnishes gray matter in brain and nerve cells.

If your nervous system is well fed and kept up to full strength you can be comfortable in any weather. It is the nervously depleted people that suffer in hot weather.

Put your faith in good, sensible and scientific food, and mark the increase of comfort.

BATH HOUSE BILL IS SAFE

Measure Which House Has Approved Is Considered Likely to Pass the City Council.

The Board of Public Improvements is confident that the bill providing for the erection of four public bathhouses, which has passed the House of Delegates, will pass the City Council, and the municipal project, which has been under consideration for several years will be completed by next spring.

Police Captain Edward J. Phillips of the Sixth district, who has done more probably than any other man to bring about this long talk with President Phillips of the Board of Public Improvements Thursday morning. He stated that he was in favor of having a bathhouse in the extreme northern part of the city in O'Fallon Park.

Another, it is thought, will probably be located in the vicinity of Deer street and Easton avenue.

Thirty thousand dollars will be expended on the four buildings to be erected. The Council is expected to approve the bill immediately and proceed to carry out the plans as outlined therein.

THREE SUSPECTS

NOW FIGURE IN CHICAGO CRIME

Young Bartholin, Thompson and Claffy.

WOMAN FURNISHES A CLEW

SAW THE MEN TOGETHER MORNING OF JULY 8.

This Was the Day After the Murder of Minnie Mitchell—Victim's Re-arranging of the Young Man Who Killed His Mother.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Fifteen days have elapsed since the murder of Minnie Mitchell; 38 since old Mrs. Annie Bartholin's life was severed by the hand of the assassin who clutched her throat. Both bodies have been found, together with numerous clues pointing toward William Bartholin, the author of both crimes and possibly others equally finished.

Yet despite the unceasing toll of those who are seeking to clear away the mystery surrounding the strange case little or nothing has been accomplished toward learning the motive that prompted either deed, the means employed or the fate that has befallen William Bartholin.

Last night a woman told the police that on the morning after Miss Mitchell disappeared, in company with William Bartholin, she saw Oscar Thompson, driver of a laundry wagon, and who is now held in custody of the police; John Claffy, the barn boss of the same concern, and a man, wearing a Panama hat and a dark sack coat, in front of the laundry at daybreak. They were standing beneath a bright arc light, and she saw them plainly. She resides in the neighborhood and knows both men well.

MISSING WOMEN.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Since June 10, 18 women have disappeared in Chicago. The police think it possible that the body of one of these was identified as that of Miss Minnie Mitchell, supposed to have been murdered by William Bartholin.

The following list of missing women is being investigated by the police:

June 10—Sadie Langman, 30, 1241 North Halsted street.

June 20—Miss Lillian Hunt, 18, 6034 Peoria street.

June 31—Mrs. Kate Collins, 20, 758 Ogden avenue.

July 15—Lizzie Lambert, 22, 1249 Fortieth avenue.

July 24—Miss Minnie Barker, 25, 1026 Fortieth avenue.

July 24—Lillian May Gardner, 16, 19 North Ashland avenue.

July 25—Daisy Weiser, 22, 300 Root street.

July 26—Mrs. Pauline Krokowska, 24, reported missing at the Artillery street police station.

July 26—Thyra Roderberg, 15, 3147 Canal street.

July 26—Rose Price, 16, 3556 Flak street.

July 27—Mrs. Henrietta Tottenberg, 33, West Congress street.

July 28—Mrs. Mohana, 42, 60 Polk street.

July 31—Mary Sidney, 21, 734 West North avenue.

July 31—Helen Gresska, 18, 1201 West Seventeenth street.

Aug. 1—May and Della Shee, 15 and 14, 802 West Adams street.

On this hypothesis, Bartholin may have

abducted the girl and strewn part of her clothing in the swampy area where it was found. Or, the police believe, both may have been in collusion, Bartholin securing funds with which to go to California by slaying his mother and keeping Miss Mitchell in ignorance of his diabolical crime.

If Minnie Mitchell is still alive, therefore, is she in company with William Bartholin? Or is she held by the young man in some place for fear she will make known facts in the case? These two theories add to the bewilderment of the police.

Dr. C. Fruyn Strinfield, who was employed several years ago, in discussing the Bartholin case said:

"While it is possible for a human body under conceivable circumstances to arrive at an advanced stage of decomposition in the time between the disappearance of the young woman and the finding of the body in this case, still, having in mind the recent atmospheric conditions and the prevailing temperature, I should emphatically say that it is improbable that the body found is the body of Miss Mitchell."

Thus a new turn in the mystery confronts the police, who were shocked by the opinion announced by the medical man.

If it was not Miss Mitchell's body whose was it? Is the question now asked by the detectives.

"Is Minnie Mitchell alive?"

"Does not Dr. Springer's theory go a long way to indicate, if it be correct, that perhaps William Bartholin had nothing to do with the death of his mother and that he actually eloped with Miss Mitchell?"

These are more queries suggested.

The police recall the visit of a mysterious man and woman to the Englewood station last Friday. They were in search of a missing daughter, who had been away from home five or six weeks. They refused to give their right names, but were taken to the morgue at 806 Halsted street and the man viewed the remains found on the prairie and effects.

The clothing he could not identify. The hair, however, and the general dimensions of the body answered the description.

When the man and woman left they were followed by Detective McMullen, who traced them to a house on the northwest side of town.

It was learned that the woman they were seeking is Grace Lambert, who once lived at Seventy-fifth and Halsted streets. After the body had been identified by the Mitchell, the same man visited the Englewood station and talked with Capt. Madden several times, expressing dissatisfaction with the identification.

Was the Body

Miss Mitchell's?

This theory indicates a conspiracy implicating Thompson and Claffy with Bartholin. Claffy was arrested on the strength of the woman's story. Both men deny in toto the woman's statement.

A startling disclosure in the case was afforded by the statements of two experts on post-mortem, who corroborated the theory of the police that Minnie Mitchell is not dead; that the body found at Seventy-fourth and State streets was that of some one else. In view of the fact that 15 young women are missing in Chicago weight is given to this latest assumption.

On this hypothesis, Bartholin may have

WARM WEATHER LIVENS SUMMER SHOWS

Warm weather following right on the heels of what was almost a cold snap has livened things considerably at the summer gardens since the beginning of the week and last night saw all the al fresco resorts well attended.

Several benefits are announced for the week. At Mannion's this evening and the balance of the week will be devoted to the benefit of Hickory Council, Royal Acapam. At Forest Park Highlands Friday evening will be given over for the benefit of the Traveling Men's Protective Association. Saturday afternoon and evening, at the Highlands, Rev. E. A. Casey, pastor of St. James' parish, has arranged with his friend, Mr. A. C. Stuever, a benefit for the school fund of the parish school.

"The Wizard of the Nile," at Delmar, is doing unusually well this week. It will be followed next week by a revival of Willard Bessner's "Princess Bonnie." All the Delmar revivals have been well worthy of the name, and that of the coming week will undoubtedly be no exception. Maud Williams, in the title role, has excellent opportunities for solo work. Edwin A. Clark, as the eccentric Italian count, and Harry Davis, as the young boy Strling, make an heroic pair of contestants for the hand of the fair Bonnie. Blanche Chapman, in the dual role of Susan and Donna Pomposi, will have plenty to keep her busy, while Carrie Reynolds should make an attractive Betty Clover, the belle of the village.

There is a very even and entertaining performance this week at the West End Heights, every number on the bill receiving the most generous applause from the large and interested audiences which have attended the garden nightly. Next week the Cycle Wheel by the original Four Armstrongs. Others on the bill are Duff, Saw-elle and Duffy, eccentric comedy sketch artists; Carrie Graham, the original Sis Hopkins; Memphis Kennedy, the musical king; the Purcells, comedy duo; Eddie Mack, novelty comedy dancer, and the Combs Riders, in an amusing act.

Forest Park Highlands has its biggest drawing card in Papietta this week. The great myriad dancer is surpassing all her previous efforts in her present repertoire of effectual dances. Eugene Cowles, in her rival in public favor, next week an excellent program will be offered, with Papietta as a headliner for the last time. Baba Lund, Lew Sully, Hooker and Davis, the Macarri Sisters, the Ovaris and Hayes and Healy are underlined.

Lola Hawthorne, who is singing at the Suburban this week, created no end of merriment Wednesday night, by throwing one of her souvenir dolls full in the face of a man who had been so forgetful and unkind as to fall asleep during her first song.

VIOLA ALLEN
DELMAR OPERA CO.

The doll song is second on Miss Hawthorne's list and is the same song that Pauline Hall used for so many years. It is admirably suited to her voice, and is quite as well done as by Miss Hall. To think that anybody could be so unkind as to sleep during her turn dismayed Miss Hawthorne beyond measure. When it came to distribute the dolls, she took one of the biggest of the lot and with sure aim threw it full in the face of the sleeper. Everybody in the audience saw it and there was a shout of laughter. The man awoke with a start, looked foolish for a few seconds and then straightened up in his seat and listened attentively to the rest of the songs. When Miss Hawthorne left the stage no one applauded louder than he.

Large audiences have been the rule at Hasbrough's Park this week, where a good variety bill is being presented. As a black face comedian Ed Flannagan is scoring heavily in his latest monologue "The Minstrel Dude." As a buck and wing dancer he has few equals.

At Mannion's this week's bill is composed of Mack and Elliott in one of the best variety acts in the city, Krough and Ballard, Prof. Maccoe and his talking dog, Paschall, a novelty contortionist, and Murphy and Ryan. Next week's bill includes Armstrong and Cassidy, Joe Burnell, Hooker and Prescott, the Brothers Carver and Mildred Walters.

There is a full two-hour show at the Suburban this week. The contributors are: Wainwright, Loran, Ohio. "It got so bad I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bleed, and I would bleed up gas, and was unable to dress at such times. I have employed and been treated by the best doctors in the city but got no help whatever. By some way or other I happened to get hold of a copy of 'Pellets,' and I thought they helped me. It was then that I decided to give you a testimonial for my symptoms you had described. I had liver complaint, and advised the use of your Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach and liver complaint, and better than I have for ten years."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing else is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

WIDE INTEREST IN NEGRO EXPOSITION
ATTENDANCE AT CHICAGO EVENT LIKELY TO BE LARGE.
SCHOOLS TO HAVE EXHIBITS
Display Planned Originally as a Local Affair Has Become National Emporium of Race.
St. Louis negroes are taking great interest in the Middle States and Mississippi Valley Exposition, which opens Thursday at the First Regiment Armory in Chicago. The exhibition will be devoted entirely to the labor, art and business enterprise of the negro race.
Conspicuous among the exhibits will be those of the industrial schools for negroes, especially the large institution of the South. The process of manufacturing of different articles, as taught in these schools, will be shown, and the inventions of negroes will be displayed.
Lieutenant Governor Northcott of Illinois will attend the opening of the exposition, and Mayor Carter Harrison is expected to be present. The exhibition was originally designed as a benefit for the home for aged and infirm colored persons, but grew in proportions to a national affair.
Exhibits from most of the states and territories have been secured, and the most progressive members of the race from all parts of the United States are expected to be visitors at the exposition.

BRANCH STORE FOR EACH NEIGHBORHOOD
LUYTIES BROS. PLAN BIG EXTENSION OF TRADE.
Company Intends to Use Additional $190,000 in Enlarging Wholesale, Retail and Mail Business.
By a reorganization and recapitalization, the Luyties Bros. Grocery Co. will soon inaugurate a system of branch retail houses in different parts of the city. The plan which the company will follow is that of the Butler stores in New York and Philadelphia.
The capital stock of the company is to be increased to $400,000, and the excess of $190,000 over the present capitalization will be placed in the proposed branches.
For the $190,000 the company will issue at par cumulative 8 per cent dividend bearing stock, with dividends payable quarterly.
The Luyties Brothers will continue as managers, and all the present employees, it is announced, will be retained.
More than one-half of the new issue of preferred stock has been sold, and the sale of the remainder is in progress.
Besides extending its wholesale business and doubling its branch retail stores, the newly organized company expects to make a feature of its mail order business. It has at present a large trade in this line, which it is proposed to greatly extend.
$5.00 to Louisville and Return. $5.00 Southern Railway, August 18.

GOLDEN CROWN FOR AGED NUN
Sister Florian's Half Century of Service Among Ursulines to Be Commemorated.
Sister Florian's half century of patient service with the Ursuline order is to receive the simple recognition prescribed by the customs of the quiet convent Friday, when a golden crown will be conferred upon her.
When 20 years of age Sister Florian, renouncing the name of Miss Rainier, took the vows of the Ursulines in the convent at Landshut, Bavaria, near her birthplace. She came to the United States with the second company of Ursulines who settled in the convent in St. Louis in 1834. She was sent to New York to aid in the establishment of a house, and remained there for five years. Since 1859 she has been continuously at the St. Louis convent, now located on South Twelfth street.
Besides the coronation of Sister Florian the feast of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary will be celebrated by the religious profession of Sister Annata and the reception of the young ladies into the order. These are Misses Isabelle McMenamy, Pauline Saier and Annie Weber.

WANT AMERICANS FOR CREWS.
Columbian Officials Seek Them for Naval Vessels.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—It is reported that agents of the Columbian government have been some weeks seeking officers and men of this coast for its contemplated warships, and both in Seattle and San Francisco overtures have been made to seafaring men to enlist in the Columbian navy.
A former American naval officer of this city has been asked to accept the position of executive and navigating officer of the Cutch, now being fitted out at Seattle and with instructions to recruit a number of San Franciscans for the crew.

A Noted Medical Specialist Speaks for the Benefit of Hot Weather Sufferers

He Maintains That
PAINE'S CELERY
COMPOUND
Is a Banisher of Disease and a Restorer of Health.

A noted medical specialist—a physician possessing ample wealth—ever ready to acknowledge worth and merit, speaks of Paine's Celery Compound as follows:

"In summer time, when strength fails, when tired, listless feeling is experienced from day to day, when the digestive organs are not doing their work properly, when constipation is poisoning the blood, when the system is in a state of depression, Paine's Celery Compound will be found a marvelous banisher of disease and a true health restorer."

This strong statement should influence all weak, run-down and half-sick men and women during the hot August weather. This remarkable indorsement of Paine's Celery Compound by an acknowledged specialist should at once convince the suffering and diseased that Dr. Phelps' great medical discovery is what they need to restore perfect health. The thousands of lives fast wearing away can be saved and made happy and useful to families and friends. May Heaven speedily convince the doubting and dependent, and direct them to that unfailing life-giver—Paine's Celery Compound.

SUES FOR DIVORCE FROM ANOTHER MAN'S WIDOW

Anton W. Luecke Asks Separation From Mrs. Tompkins, Who Says She Was Divorced and Remarried.

The action of Anton W. Luecke, the Canbana grocer, in suing for divorce from Mrs. Florence Luecke, promises to develop one of the most interesting and intricate legal cases that has been docketed in a St. Louis court for a long time.

It has already attracted an extremely complicated feature and when the case is placed upon trial and the marital relations, the separation of the couple, with the subsequent actions of the defendant are disclosed, it will possess peculiarities without a local parallel.

Mrs. Luecke who claims that she is the widow of W. D. Tompkins, who died two years ago; that she was divorced from Luecke in September, 1896; and that she was married to Tompkins, who is named in Luecke's petition as co-respondent, on the 5th day of the following month. The divorce and marriage were consummated outside of St. Louis, and Mrs. Tompkins arrests that Mr. Luecke knew of both circumstances when he filed suit.

She is keeping secret her place of residence, but while she was visiting a friend, near Delmar Garden Wednesday afternoon, she made a statement to the Post-Dispatch, in which she denies in toto the allegations of Luecke, and declares her intention to oppose him with every instrument at her command.

Considered Remarkably Attractive Girl.

Mrs. Tompkins was considered a remarkably attractive girl at the time of her marriage and still possesses more than ordinary beauty. Her hair is thick and dark, her eyes are large and a liquid brown, her teeth are perfect and her complexion faultless. Her manner of speech is quick, intelligent and entertaining.

"My maiden name was Florence Grillo," said Mrs. Tompkins, "and when I was 16 years old, I was a convent-girl and took pleasure in the recreations and pastimes that usually attract girls of that age. I liked to go to theaters and places of amusement and it was the thing that encouraged my disengagement."

Mr. Luecke was a husband to me in name only. He never took me anywhere, although he himself went wherever and whenever he pleased. He was a man who seemed to be wrapped up in accumulation of money. He did not take me, so I went to matinees and other amusements with others, but I deny emphatically that I ever ran around or consorted with other men. Where that I could not take my child, I always had the little one with me.

He charges me with neglecting my household duties, with neglecting my child. Both charges are untrue. I had help to perform the work of the household. I can prove that I was as good to my child as it is possible for a mother to be, and Mr. Luecke knows it. I was always with me. I left Mr. Luecke once before the final separation, when my baby was but 18 months old, but he returned to him again.

Begged Her to Return to Him.

"As to my treatment of the child, I defy him to deny that he came to me in the separation and implored me on his knees to return to him. He begged me to go for the sake of the child, who he said was simply pining away without me. Does that look as though I had ever neglected it?"

"He neglected me in every shape and form. He was a good provider, that was all, but I did not care for money. It was something more than that. On the night before the closing of the Exposition in 1894 he told me to be dressed and ready to go with him when he returned. This was the first time he had ever invited me to go anywhere and I was perfectly happy over it. I dressed and waited—waited and waited with my hat and gloves and money on before he came in. I told him how I had enjoyed the Exposition, and he simply said he was glad. It was this sort of thing that severed us."

On Oct. 18, 1894, I left him. He never left me. I did not live with Mr. Tompkins until he died. He was a man who procured a divorce from Mr. Luecke in September, 1896, and married Mr. W. D. Tompkins on Oct. 18, 1896. He was then in the lithographing business in St. Louis, and Mr. Luecke knew I was married to him. Mr. Tompkins had visited at our home, and in Mr. Luecke's own parlor asked him if he loved me, and if he did, why was it he treated me so."

First Husband Met the Second.

"Mr. Luecke had a store at Spring and Olive streets when Mr. Tompkins and I lived directly around the corner, and Mr. Luecke knew it. My husband has been in Mr. Luecke's store, and my former husband did not dare say anything out of the way to him. He must wait until after he is dead. He died two years ago. I deny all of Mr. Luecke's charges as false and will prove all my statements at the proper time."

"Did I run large bills in Mr. Luecke's name? Yes, I did, upon the advice of my attorney. I do not think I did wrong, and that I had a purpose for doing so."

"The court gave me the custody of the child, but Mr. Luecke now has him."

POPULACE ENTERED PROTESTS

But Military Display Awed It and the Anticipated Resistance Did Not Develop.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The cabinet met at the Elysee Palace today. The premier, M. Combes, communicated reports on the situation in Finistere, one of them being from the superior of the congregation of the Holy Ghost, to which the resisting sisters belong.

In this report the superior said the sisters had been ordered twice to leave their schools, but these orders had not been obeyed in consequence of opposition by the peasantry and by the owners of the properties in which the schools are situated.

Continuing, Mr. Combes declared that official reports showed the agitation in Finistere was purely a royalist movement. There had been grave occurrences, said the premier, which came within the penal laws and which would result in prosecutions. Instructions for which had been sent to the procureur-general.

LONDON CHEERS ITS RULERS.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra left London for Cowes this afternoon. They drove in semi-state to the railway station, escorted by the Life Guards, through the streets thickly crowded with cheering people.

Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap

15c Cakes at HALF PRICE, Friday 7 1/2c

It's always gratifying to supply a first-class article below the regular price, but that, as you all know, is the regular custom of this store. We always get the best and sell it at the lowest price. From what people say of Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap it is creating a revolution in Toilet Soaps. Think of a soap that is free from all alkalis and animal fat; think of a soap that is absolutely pure enough to eat; think of a soap that is said to be superior to any French toilet soap ever made and think of its price being only 7 1/2c a cake. Mothers will be glad to get this soap because it relieves babies so quickly of hives, prickly heat and all skin eruptions. People who have facial blemishes, blackheads and skin eruptions should welcome this new soap as a great blessing. For shampooing it is said to be superior to any article on the market and is guaranteed to cure dandruff and most scalp diseases. We don't like to endorse any particular brand of soap, but it is very gratifying to hear our customers speak so highly of Munyon's.

Be sure not to miss this opportunity. Put in a supply now at HALF REGULAR COST

CLEVELAND BARS DIRTY MONEY

Health Department Thinks it is Bearer of Contagious Diseases.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 14.—Health Officer Friedlander has begun a war against the use of dirty money in this city, claiming that many cases of smallpox and other contagious diseases can be directly traced to its circulation.

Many of the banks have agreed to gather in what they can of the worst appearing of the paper money now in circulation here and replace it with new bills. Several of the stores have begun to give only new money in change.

One Was Rotten.

From the Chicago Journal.

George Fletcher, a vaudeville performer who gave imitations of Mansfield, Irving and other celebrated actors, includes an imitation of Ezra Kendall, the monopolist, in his repertoire. He gave an imitation recently in New York while Kendall was in the audience. At the performance Fletcher asked Kendall: "How did you like my imitation of your act?" "Well," said Kendall, "one of us is rotten."

WAITED FOR HER 40 YEARS

William Jackson, 81, Will Wed 79-Year-Old Widow of Brother Who "Cut Him Out."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Mary E. Jackson, who is 79 years old, will be married next winter to William Jackson, her late husband's brother, whose age is 81.

Mrs. Jackson has been a widow since 1862. Her husband, James Jackson, who married her before the civil war, died in a hospital at Annapolis.

The brothers had been rivals for her hand, and the disappointed suitor vowed he would marry no one else. He has remained a bachelor and only recently obtained his sister-in-law's consent to become his wife.

Mrs. Jackson is hale and hearty, as is her intended husband.

SUDDEN CHANGE IN WEATHER BRINGS DISTRESS.

"CAMILLE" PLAYED FOR FUND

Koerner's Garden Stock Company Gave Benefit Which Netted Neat Sum—Demands Are Heavy.

The Post-Dispatch does not employ solicitors nor subscription lists in collecting contributions to the Free Ice Fund. Please send contributions direct to this office.

"Camille," excellently played by the Bohler-Kemble-Rising stock company at Koerner's Garden Wednesday afternoon and evening, yielded $7.50 to the Post-Dispatch Free Ice Fund.

Threatening weather reduced the attendance to some extent, but those who had the good fortune to be present spent an enjoyable evening.

In addition to the play several extra specialties were produced in honor of the occasion.

At the evening performance Will S. Rising, singing a song made famous by him when he was a member of Gilmore's Band company, Jammo. It will be remembered by those who heard it at Utrica Cave and in the Exposition building.

Forbes and Bell, two clever professional comedians, who are employed by the Ferguson-McKinney Dry Goods Co., presented a clever sidewalk conversation sketch, interspersed with songs, and J. Joseph Crawford, a St. Louis singer, "In the Good Old Summer Time," in the chorus of which the audience joined with vigor.

The weather, which slumped suddenly from cool to hot Wednesday, has made the use of ice imperative in the sickroom and in the crowded quarters where the children suffer for the lack of it.

More money will be needed to pay Post-Dispatch Free Ice bills before the end of the season. Send your subscriptions direct to the Post-Dispatch.

Who pulls the strings in the House of Delegates?

We refuse reciprocity to Cuba and are not disposed to allow her to borrow money. Are we seeking to force annexation?

The one question concerning the actions of the House of Delegates combine is not difficult to answer. That question is, WHY?

Big coal prices ought to stimulate emigration to the southern states. Refugees from the Coal Trust territory may be numerous before long.

The Indiana man of 45 who three months ago married a girl of 12 has already beaten her and driven her away. Before we have completely educated the Philippines it is to be hoped that we may have some laws for the better protection of American children.

WHAT HE OUGHT TO DO.

Delegate Buckley, chairman of the House Sanitary Committee, appeared at Tuesday's meeting "clad in his glad rags," which being interpreted means that he was neatly but not gaudily attired.

But he didn't report the milk bill.

"It ain't ready to report yet," he said. But he made a concession to public sentiment. "I guess I ought to say Mr. Speaker, that I had a reason for not reporting the milk bill. I called a meeting of the committee for 6 o'clock this evening, but none of the members save myself appeared."

Observe, he "ought to say." A member of the House of Delegates is making progress when he acknowledges that he "ought" to do anything. If he continues on this path it may dawn upon his beclouded intellect that he not only ought to say, but ought to do.

But "ought" not Delegate Buckley to say whether or not he called the meeting for 6 o'clock because he knew the members wouldn't or couldn't be there?

Be that as it may, Delegate Buckley ought to report that bill
at Friday's session, and the House ought to pass it.

Just now the people most interested in pure milk are these aldermen's "constituents," and it won't do to neglect them.

Don't fool any longer with the babies of the downtown wards.
Pass the bill and relieve their suffering.

Humane citizens will approve of the action of Judge Tracy in heavily fining men who beat horses or mules with shovels and otherwise abuse them. The Post-Dispatch has received scores of complaints of the brutal treatment of these animals in St.
Louis. For the good name of the city it should be stopped.

WELL DONE ST. LOUIS BROWNS.

Recreation being an essential to wholesome life and baseball
being the great source of American recreation, a professional baseball team that does its home city honor by playing skillfully, heartily and honestly and winning deserved national repute does a public service that should be cordially recognized.

Such a service the St. Louis team of the American League has done for the World's Fair city in winning game after game, by hard work and good playing, until by yesterday's rounding out of the record thus far, it has achieved a place at the head of the list, and is in an excellent position to win the pennant.

Almost without exception this team has proved that it is composed of crack players. The record it has made is no mere run of luck. It has justified the bringing of new blood and new ideas into the playing. And it has been ably managed.

St. Louis says to the boys who have thus retrieved the shattered reputation of her Browns: "Well done! The eyes of the whole country are upon you. Go on and make the season a record-breaker for St. Louis baseball. You are a part of the New St. Louis, and it is your privilege to show that she has skill and muscle, brain and brawn."

It is said that out of 24 prisoners in the city jail at this time
35 are children near the age of 14. They are held on larceny charges and mingle freely with older and hardened criminals.
This alarming condition shows the absolute need for a juvenile court, whose business should be to dispose promptly of all cases where children were charged with offenses against the law. The city should also have a special place of detention for such children. Why should St. Louis support a school for crime?

NO TIPS FROM J. P. M.

If there was ever any doubt that J. Pierpont Morgan is a great man, it was dispelled by his action during his recent visit to Berlin. Upon leaving his hotel he marched between two long lines of servants, all waiting for and expecting rich tips, and distributed not one cent.

Only a great man could be capable of such a feat. A man of ordinary mould could not have stood the pressure. He would have bankrupted himself to furnish coin to soothe the several scores of itching palms spread out on either side of him, and to escape the scornful glances and the muttered imprecations which would have been his portion otherwise. He would have given up anything in his possession to escape the imputation of being "a cheap man."

Not so with J. P. M. He had been hailed throughout Europe with as much veneration as if he had been a reigning sovereign and J. P. M. accepted the obsequiousness as his own due, and paused neither to encourage it nor to pay for it. Hence no tips.
Great rulers have no occasion to give tips. J. P. M. knows this.
J. P. M. is a great man.

The experiments that have shown that cotton can be grown much cheaper in South Africa than in the United States may help to spread the diversified farming idea in our southern states.

SUNDAY NEWSPAPERS ARE NECESSARY.

In the recent amalgamation of the Philadelphia Public Ledger
with the Philadelphia Times, the managers of the new paper found themselves compelled to settle the question whether or not to publish a Sunday edition. The Ledger had no Sunday edition, and in making the consolidation it was optional either to follow the traditions of the Ledger, and abandon the Sunday paper; or to follow the Times' custom and issue every day in the week. In deciding to publish a Sunday paper, the managers of the new paper said:

"The fact must be recognized that more morning newspapers are sold upon Sunday, in this as in other cities, than upon any other day of the week. There are more morning newspaper readers upon Sunday than upon weekdays. Since people will buy and read newspapers upon Sunday, we believe it worth while and a service to good morals, to offer them a clean newspaper that will appeal to their higher intelligence and truer taste."

The Sunday paper has come to stay, because the people demand it. The day of the sensational Sunday paper is past.
The successful Sunday paper now is the one that, while giving readers all the news, recognizes the day as one especially adapted to high thinking and harmless recreation.

It is true, from his cell, surrounded by his family, the Sunday

reader first of all wishes to acquaint himself thoroughly with what the world has been doing. On this day, having time for reflection, his interest extends not only to the everyday happenings, but to questions of art, music and science. The successful Sunday paper must keep him apprised of the latest developments
in these and all other branches of human effort.

And it must be pre-eminently a family paper. There must be plenty of interesting matter in it for the women and children, as well as for the head of the household. Even the little tots must find food for wholesome laughter in its pages.
Such a paper as the Sunday Post-Dispatch is, as the Times and Ledger publishers suggest, "a substitute for much that is offensive both to good morals and good manners." And it is infinitely more. Its influence tends to make Sunday a success from every point of view. The community is elevated in tone from its perusal.

What will you give to help a poor sufferer to a cup of cold water?

What will you give to supply ice for a destitute fever patient?

What will you give to save the life of a suffering baby
whose mother is too poor to buy ice?

FREE BOOKS FOR ALL GRADES.

The facts and figures given in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch are proof that free textbooks are necessary, in all grades of the public schools, if St. Louis is to maintain its present high standard in education and if the school system is to do the work expected of it.

As a result of the vigorous and persistent campaign carried on by the Post-Dispatch in favor of free books, when the question was first broached, we now have free books in the four lower grades. This was the utmost concession that could be obtained from the Board of Education at that time. As a result of the use of free books in these grades, the school authorities now admit the necessity of extending the system to all grades, thus placing St. Louis in the ranks with Chicago, Boston and other cities where the free system has shown the best results.

The figures show that in 1899-1900, 302 children who were in the fourth grade, only 570 entered the fifth. The rest, at the average age of 12 years, left school, either to work or roam the streets. This in itself is a tragedy. It represents a very serious loss to the best elements of citizenship. As Mr. Blewett of the Board of Education says: "The educational advantages are fore-ever lost, as a child once out of school feels humiliated to again enter its class a few months or a year behind classmates."

Just at the critical time when the clothing and other expenses of a child have become a burden, in families of slender means,
and when the temptation becomes strong to set the child at remunerative work, the city demands pay for books.

But the figures also show that, by the mere expedient of permitting the free use of the fourth grade geography and arithmetic textbooks to the children until they finished their fifth grade studies, the falling off in attendance at this critical time was 1110 less than in 1899-1900. That is to say, 1110 more children were kept at school, because their parents were saved the expense of buying two new books.

It is useless to inveigh against the shortsightedness of parents in removing children from school for what appears so slight a pretext. The cost of living is high, and the temptation is great.
Free books are not an extraordinary or unnecessary factor in a city's educational system. They are not for a moment to be classified with charity or philanthropy, but are an essential part of such a system, and should be supplied as a matter of sound public policy. They are just as necessary as free school buildings and free teachers. Why should the city supply the children with free teachers, free buildings, janitors and equipment, and demand payment for certain books? To make the system complete, it should manifestly be free in every part.

Not another year should pass without the extension of the free book plan to all grades. The initial cost will not be too great, and the expense thereafter will be very moderate. Parents and citizens interested in the education of the children should insist upon this rounding out of the free book scheme. It will enormously extend the advantages of free education and will place
St. Louis where it ought to be in this regard.

Canning establishments that prove they do not use injurious preservatives will have plenty of business. The reports of dangerous preservatives have worked great injury to the canned goods trade and may continue to affect it.

The honing of Boer generals in London is to be quite different from the honing contemplated for them by the London mob at the beginning of the Boer war. It had no idea that the Boers were nearly all Danes.

In case of his assassination the heirs of Prince Henry of Prussia
will receive $500,000 from a German Assurance Insurance company. Such a company might pick up considerable business in the United States.

The Mexico (Mo.) Ledger refused to publish gratis a long obituary of a man who had never subscribed for a local paper. The editor of the Ledger will doubtless be indorsed by all the press associations.

A Florida man is said to have realized $75,000 from his great tomato crop, which he sent to eastern markets early. What does the royalty of cotton amount to in the presence of such figures?

The trusteers resting very easy. They are confident that there will be no "tax" on them, and they are not frightened by prosecution threatened on the eve of a presidential campaign.

If it is our exorbitant, trust-building tariff that gives us all
our prosperity, any country in the world can become prosperous
by the same means. There is no patent on high tariffs.

The American consumer is a phenomenal philanthropist. He pays large prices for what he buys, in order that foreigners
may have the same things at half or a third less cost.

If Iowa is a strong protection state, as Speaker Henderson says, it is not going to meddle with the trusts, which are the outgrowth
of our exorbitant tariff duties.

The new justice of the Supreme Court was three times wounded in our great civil war. So his appointment is also satisfactory to the Grand Army.

JOHN CARR.-The letters and members are evidently marks of record to aid the war office in keeping the records of soldiers.
The officials of war department can give exact meaning.

ONE IN TROUBLE.-To request means to hit another ball with one's own in croquet. The game called roquet is very like croquet. The balls and wickets are smaller and it requires finer playing.

SUBSCRIBER.-Yes, you can obtain copyright on book containing quotations from magazines. But it might be a question how much of a copyrighted article could be quoted.

L. C. S.-There are many American consuls in foreign countries-one in every large city. Frank H. Mason, United States consul, Berlin; Wm. M. Osborne, consul-general, London; John Gowdy, consul-general, Paris; John J. Bittenger, consul-gen-

Christian and Drunkard.

From the Jefferson City (Mo.) Democrat.

Two writers in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch have been making fun of the question, "can a drunkard be a Christian?" But that isn't the point at all. The question is, can a Christian be a drunkard? And it should be answered in the affirmative. Not only can a Christian be a drunkard, but a Christian drunkard-especially in St. Louis.

Our Bad Name.

THE DAILY MAGAZINE

CLEW.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

Nice clothes that show cover a multitude of clothes not so nice that don't show.

The same girl that calls cowards slugs speaks of her legs as if they were on trees.

Most any strong-willed man can compel a woman to do what he wants her to by com- manding her not to.

A flirtatious girl can't manage it any other way than to succeed in winking with the back of her head.

The man that the average girl is inter- ested in is the one that she seems not to want to be interested in.-New York Press.

QUITE CLEVER ENOUGH.

The Lady: Jack, why don't you write a book, or paint a picture, or do something clever.

The Gentleman: Because I selected a mil- lionaire for a father, and I think that was clever enough to last a lifetime.-Pearson's Weekly.

IN BOSTON, OF COURSE.

"What do you expect to be when you be- come of age, my little man?" asked the visitor.

"Twenty-one, sir," was the bright one's reply.-Boston Herald.

"Be something in this living age, and prove your right to be a light upon some darkened page. A pilot on some sea. Find out the place where you may stand. Beneath some burden bow. Take up the task with willing hand. Be something, somewhere, now."

"Be something in this throbbing day Of busy hands and feet. A spring beside some dusty way. A shadow from the heat. Be found upon the workman's roll; Go now, go reap, or plow; Bend to some task with heart and soul. Be something, somewhere, now."

"Be something in this golden hour, With action running o'er; Add some momentum to its power, A voice unheard before. Be not a king without a throne. Or crown to deck the brow. Serve with the strong, or serve alone. Be something, somewhere, now!"

-Democrat.

WOMEN.

Oh, the shrewdness of their shrewdness when they're shrewd, And the rudeness of their rudeness when they're rude;

But the shrewdness of their shrewdness and the rudeness of their rudeness, Are as nothing to their goodness when they're good.

SUNDAY WITH BUDGE AND TODDIE.

From "Helen's Babies," By JOHN HARBERTON.

"Helen's Babies," by John Harborton, has been very popular since its appearance in 1870. It is the story of a few days' care of his brother's children by Uncle Harry, who discovers that they are at the same time innocent, crafty, amiable, implacable and repulsive. As a nurse he is a distinct failure.

"Budge," said I, "what do you do Sun- days when your papa and mamma are home? What do they read to you-what do they talk about?"

"Oh, they swing us-lots!" said Budge, with brightening eyes.

"An' say takes us to get jacks," observed Toddie.

"Oh, yes!" exclaimed Budge; "jacks-in-the-pulpit-don't you know?"

"Hum-ye-ye; I do remember some such thing in my young days, they grow where there's plenty of mud, don't they?"

"Yes, an' there's a brook there, an' ferns, an' birchbark, an' if you don't look out you'll tumble into the brook when you go to get birch."

"An' we goes to Hawksnest Rock," piped Toddie, "an' papa carries us up on his back when we get tired."

"An' he makes us whistles," said Budge.

"Budge," said I, rather hastily, "enough in the language of the post."

"These earthly pleasures I resign, an' I'm ready to enter the Red Sea, an' hasn't taught you to do likewise. Don't be ever read to you?"

"An' he makes us whistles," said Budge.
